DO NOT PLAY LIST:

What's a party without the food? Your venue may provide their own catering services, or you might have to hire a caterer on your own. A full-service caterer should be able to provide you with more than a great meal—they should also supply experienced servers, rentals, such as linens, china, glassware, and silverware, and will also guide you in planning your sumptuous menu.

POSSIBLE CATERERS:

QUESTIONS TO ASK:

- What sorts of packages do they offer?
- What exactly do the packages include?
- Can you create a mix and match menu?
- Will they adapt their menu to your budget?
- Will they have a menu tasting for you?
- Do you have to pay for the tasting?
- Have they worked at your reception site before? If not, will they visit before your wedding day?
- What is the deadline for the final head count?
- How far in advance must you book their services?
- When must the menu be finalized?
- Do they provide silverware, stemware, china, salt and pepper shakers, etc.? Can you see them?
- Do they provide chairs, linens, or tables? Can you see them?
- What will the server to guest ratio be?
- Where will the leftover food go?
- Do they have a license to operate and serve liquor?
- Do they provide bar service?
- Do they charge an opening fee per bottle?
- Will they have a beverage service for the tables?
- Do they provide the alcohol? If so, do they charge a corking fee?
- Do they have photos of previous buffet arrangements?
- Do they have references you can call?
- Is there a deposit required? If so, how much?
- What is their cancellation policy?

Planning a wedding is hard work—but don't forget about the honeymoon! You and your fiancé deserve some rest and relaxation.

TRAVEL AGENTS:

IDEAS:

QUESTIONS TO ASK:

- Are you a certified travel counselor?
- What is the tipping etiquette overseas?
- How do you convert your currency?
- Are there safety concerns where you're going?
- Who do I call after hours with an emergency?
- Should you rent a car?
- How many airport connections?
- Are there nonsmoking/smoking accommodations?

It's important to thank your wedding party with thoughtful gifts. After all, they've probably spent a pretty penny to just be in your wedding.
